Friday of the Fifth Week of Lent

Why do some people like to trip up or hurt others, either with words or even physically, those who do good? The mystery of iniquity! Evil does have its way in the world and we know the devil has reign in this world, as the Scriptures, and Jesus, remind us of this reality. Pride reigns in all of our hearts, as do the other capital sins. Jesus came to drive them out so that He can reign there and give us His peace. Jesus is accused of blasphemy today and He explains His mission and His works to those who wanted to stone Him. “Then they tried to arrest him; but he escaped from their power.” He descends to the River Jordan, where He was baptized by John, where “many there began to believe in him.” He will soon ascend to Jerusalem where He will give His life for the salvation of the world.

God Love You!
