Thursday of the Eighth Week in Ordinary Time

Saint Augustine of Canterbury, Bishop

“The Most High possesses all knowledge, . . . Perennial is his almighty wisdom.” The book of Sirach ponders the awesomeness of God! We witness the power and goodness of God in the Gospel. The Father sent Jesus, His Son, to do His works. Today, Jesus gives sight to the blind Bartimaeus. We are all incomplete, like Bartimaeus, due to original sin. Through Jesus, we are restored, as is Bartimaeus, because our faith, like Bartimaeus’ faith, saves us! We believe, we are baptised, we are transformed by God’s grace! King Ethelbert and his people in Kent, England accepted the monk Augustine and the Gospel was announced, transforming a people from an earthly kingdom to the heavenly kingdom.

Saint Augustine of Canterbury, pray for us!

God Love You!
