Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Are we in awe of the wonder of creation and all the marvelous things we witness everyday? The orange-red sky of a beautiful sunset? The miracle of birth? The incredible creatures who roam the earth and swim in the seas and fly in the skies? Today, the disciples are “filled with great awe and say to one another, ‘Who then is this whom even wind and sea obey?’” Yes, it is God in the flesh! Jesus came to calm the storms in our lives and bring us to the other side, that is, to heaven. “Quiet! Be still!” reminds us of Psalm 46:11: “Be still and confess that I am God!” Yes, Jesus is bringing those who do “not yet have faith” to faith in Him, whom they will confess openly when they have received the Holy Spirit. May we remain in the boat with Christ – the boat representing the Church – and remain in awe of God always, proclaiming like St. Paul: “behold, new things have come.”

God is our Father whom Jesus leads us to in faith!

Happy Father’s Day!

God Love You!
